Dear Amanda

Re: Angelo Pavlidis DOB: 23/1/1951

17 Parkwood Gr West Pymble NSW 2073

Thank you for involving me in the care of this 73-year-old gentleman, requiring peritoneal dialysis catheter insertion. I have explained the procedure of catheter insertion to him, including rationale and risks of treatment. He is cognisant of these risks, and is keen to proceed. His wife was present during the consultation.

I have reviewed his CT scan of the abdomen. He has no diverticular disease, and no hernias that would complicate peritoneal dialysis.

I understand that there are other comorbidities at hand, including diabetes and cardiovascular disease.

As a result, I think it would be prudent to coordinate this with his cardiologist, Dr Thomas Yeoh. I understand that Dr Yeoh may be considering a TAVI procedure.

It would also be good to schedule an appointment with the Anaesthetic Clinic at RNSH prior to his catheter insertion to optimise his procedural safety and comfort.

He is also expecting contact with the Access Coordinator, with regards to catheter education.

There are several factors that require logistical and clinical consideration. However, we will be ready to schedule his catheter insertion in the appropriate sequence of events.

With best wishes
Yours sincerely

Dr Albert Goh
